Customer Reviews

"[a] gem of a book" Spectator "Lavishly illustrated...An excellent book that will greatly enhance the reader's enjoyment of church visits - highly recommended" Scottish Home & County "Stunning colour photographs...the ultimate reference for anybody who wants to know more about what they see in a church or cathedral" Church Building "An exuberant presence and an enthralling teacher" Mail on Sunday "When I grow old and mad I shall spend my days, as Enoch Powell did, trying to make sense of old churches. I shall take with me the lessons learnt from Richard Taylor's fantastic, in both senses, [TV series] Churches: How To Read Them" -- Andrew Billen The Times

Richard Taylor was born in 1967. He studied English at Cambridge University and Law at London University, and now lives and works as a lawyer in Sheffield. He has lectured on Christian symbolism to people of many faiths and those of none. This book was inspired by their enthusiastic reactions.
